

Privacy Policy

Introduction

Developer.10duke.com (Website) is a SDK distribution, support and information site. It contains content from 10Duke Software Ltd. (hereinafter '10Duke') and user generated content within the forum. 10Duke cares about your privacy and the following gives you details about how any information collected on the Website is used.

Information Collection

In order to use the Website you need to provide some personal details that will allow us to identify you, such as your email address, name and some more information in order to set up your user account. 10Duke also collects non specific information, including IP address, profile information, aggregate user data, and browser type, from site users.

How the information is used?

We will use this data to help run and improve the Website. It will also be used to verify who you are and to communicate with you. Non specific data is used to manage the Website, track usage and improve the Website services. This data, in an aggregated form, may be shared with third-parties to provide more relevant services and offers to members. We will only disclose your personal information if we are required to do so by law, regulation or other government authority, to protect the 10Duke's rights and properties, its affiliates or the public. In the event of a change of ownership, such as an acquisition, 10Duke reserves the right to pass your personal details on to the new owner.

Changing your personal information

If for any reason, you need to change your personal information, you may do so from the account section of the Website.

Cookies

10Duke will use cookies to enhance your experience of the Website and services. This includes the ability to store and retrieve login details on a user's system, track user session and ensure that advertisements are not repeated. Most browsers default settings allow cookies. You can change the preference settings for cookies in your browser, but in order to take advantage of all services on the Website you must enable developer.10duke.com cookies.

Third Party Ad Servers

10Duke reserves the right to display advertising on its websites. In order to do this 10Duke uses third party ad servers. These third party companies may use cookies to present advertisements and to measure the effectiveness of advertising. 10Duke may share data with these third party companies in order to make the advertising more relevant.

Security

Your account is secured with a personal password, that you have chosen and which you should not share with other people. You can change your password in your account. 10Duke takes all reasonable measures to protect your information and restricting access to member details only to those employees who need to perform their jobs, such as IT and customer service. However, 10Duke cannot guarantee the security of your information.

Changes in Privacy Policy

From time to time we may update this Privacy Policy. If we do so we will post a notice of any significant changes on our website. You should visit this page periodically to review any changes to the privacy policy. Use of this website or service and all personal information will be subject to the terms of the current Privacy Policy.

Contact

If you have any questions, feedback or want to find out more about our privacy policy please contact us using the contact form available on the website.